

Jason Atwell

Senior Manager, Government, Mandiant Threat Intelligence

As Senior Manager of Mandiant Threat Intelligence, Jason Atwell oversees the Strategic Intelligence & Government practice. Jason has over 17 years of experience in cyber and risk intelligence from across the military, government, and commercial sectors. As a Senior intelligence enablement consultant, Jason contributes to the intelligence used by many of the world's top governments and commercial entities to defend against targeted attacks. Jason also serves as an intelligence officer in the U.S. Army Reserve.

Prior to FireEye, Jason was a senior advisor to the CIOs of the U.S. House of Representatives, the Department of Health and Human Services, and the National Institutes of Health helping to navigate the increasingly complex cyber threat environment. During his career Jason has been a key member of military and civilian staffs conducting civil-military operations in Baghdad, solving complex geospatial problems for the DIA, and working to counter foreign intelligence and influence operations at the U.S. Department of State.

He holds a master's degree in English Literature from American University and a fellowship in cyber leadership from Yale. He is also a graduate of both the U.S. Army Intelligence School and John F. Kennedy Special Warfare Center and completed coursework at the National Intelligence University.