

Joseph Pugh is the Development and Data manager with The Minnesota Department of Health an agency within the larger Minnesota Department of Information Technology (MNIT). He has over 25 years of IT experience in hands-on development as well as extensive experience with data and databases. His career includes the gamut of technologies and infrastructure in use from the early 90's to the present.