

Dr. Anderson is an Assistant Research Professor with the Applied Research Lab at Penn State University. She is a trainer and educator with lateral-thinking expertise in identifying and applying divergent, interdisciplinary perspectives and strategies to STEM and liberal studies research and teaching collaborations.