

Census Leadership Bios

Zack Schwartz

Deputy Division Chief, Communications Directorate
U.S. Census Bureau (February 2016-Present)

- Zack Schwartz serves as a Deputy Division Chief at the U.S. Census Bureau where he and his teams are responsible for delivering critical systems in support of the 2020 Census. His area is also coordinating national partnership efforts with technology companies.
- Schwartz leads the Trust & Safety Team, which serves to protect the Bureau's reputation and the American public from malicious efforts to undermine the count by spreading mis- and disinformation.
- Prior to serving in his role, Schwartz was the Program Manager over the Decennial IT PMO managing a complex budget and schedule in support of the 2020 Census systems.
- Schwartz holds a BA in Business Administration from American University and currently resides in Washington D.C. where he is a Sworn Reserve Police Officer.

